Ref: Board of Selectmen Meeting 04.24.17 - Public Comment
Shawn Joyce, 270 Washington Rd, Rye NH - Fair Appointment Process

Dear Selectmen:

Thank you for the opportunity to comment here tonight. I came to speak about the process for Rye residents to be considered for appointment to the Rye Conservation Commission (RCC). A number of other residents were going to come tonight to speak, yet we would be more or less saying the same thing. They signed the petition that I am about to read instead.

The RCC has never adopted any written bylaws, operating policies and procedures. This does not follow best practices as outlined by the NH Association of Conservation Commissions, of which Rye is a member, and that other NH towns have adopted to ensure that there are fair practices and process.

We understand that the Selectmen have no direct jurisdiction over the RCC. However, the Selectmen are responsible for appointing the RCC members and alternates. We also understand that the Selectmen have an unwritten policy that they will not interview potential RCC appointments without a recommendation letter from the RCC Chairperson. This is not the norm in other NH towns.

The current requirement of a recommendation letter allows an RCC Chair to shape the membership, discourage Rye residents with different perspectives from serving and not have bylaws that ensure fairness to all residents coming before the RCC. Sixty four people signed the attached petition over the last few days, two of which were past RCC members, which I will read to you now.

I have done a lot of research about NH conservation commissions, best practices and forms that Selectmen use for folks to be considered for appointments. Exeter, NH is an excellent example. If you go to their website there are links to all of the materials. I have also included the simple one page form.

In conclusion, I thank you again for allowing me to speak tonight. I respectfully ask that this letter and its attachments be included with the minutes of this meeting that are sent out electronically and posted to Rye's website so folks that are not here tonight have all the details with this request. Thank you.
