Community Involvement

Rye Planning Board (2014 – 2017); Planning Board Alternate (2012 – 2014); Chair, Rules and Regulations Subcommittee (2014 – 2017); Rye Recreation Commissioner (2010 – 2013)

For nearly the last decade, my career has been focused primarily on municipalities, so I am uniquely familiar and experienced with the many financial and operational issues towns face. I have worked closely with Boards of Selectmen, Town Managers, land use boards, code enforcement officers, and department heads – including fire chiefs, police chiefs, planners and DPW directors. I have an even deeper understanding of these issues in Rye after serving on various Rye Boards/committees over the years.

I come from a full-time working, budgeting household with two young children. I strongly believe in the same ideas and values we all share in Rye: preservation of our small-town sense of community; low taxes which do not also sacrifice a well-run government, quality schools, or the dedicated employees we are fortunate to have in Rye; clean water; retaining families with children and becoming an attractive community for our grown children to come back to; and finding a way to ensure our summer tourism provides the greatest benefit to our Town. This is what I want for Rye; and I want to work with, and alongside, the community to accomplish it.
