Greetings all Rye Public Library friends, supporters and interested Rye residents:

On Thursday, December 5, at 1:00 p.m. at the Library, the Rye Public Library Board of Trustees will make a brief presentation about the progress, status and details on their plans for potential enhancements to the Library.

For those of you who may not have heard about the project under consideration, this will be an ideal time to learn about its inception and the process we have undertaken to explore its feasibility.

This informational presentation will include the summary of a feasibility study that was informed by the Library's current strategic plan, and which focused on the amount and sources of funding, should the Trustees decide to move forward with the effort.

Please come listen and participate. Rye Public Library is truly
