

Hello all,

Thank you for your interest and participation in the Connect to Protect workshop yesterday. We were so impressed with the turnout and hope you enjoyed the conversation. We're working on a summary of the discussion notes and will share that out with you all soon. In the meantime, the slides are attached here and links to the resources mentioned during the workshop are below:

  - Current master plan and buildout analysis efforts are ongoing with the assistance of Resilience Planning and Design, FB Environmental, and Rockingham Planning Commission. Master Plan steering committee anticipates a draft of existing conditions during their November/December meetings and a public hearing in mid-February 2024.
- This link has some of the stormwater related handouts that Jason Rucker provided - www.town.rye.nh.us/stormwater-drainagem4
- NH Coastal Viewer: <https://nhcoastalviewer.unh.edu/>
- Conserving Your Land Publication: <https://nhlrc.org/resources/conserving-your-land-publication>
- Southeast Land Trust: <https://seltnh.org/>

I also attached the handout Tracy Degnan from Rockingham County Conservation District (tracy@rockinghamccd.org) brought about the salt marsh project. Tracy will share more information about outreach opportunities as part of that project; it sounds like there will be some events in the spring.

Best,

Lisa and Emma, on behalf of the workshop planning team
